...because if they know that people would find out about a dirty move they think maybe we should not use this.

This takes away some of their power and would even help the people in power not to abuse instruments of power, because when this material is public they will spend the rest of their life to hide that, buy whitnesses, buy justice, ...

Drone Kills:
killing with drones or NPC's or people one can boss around leads to ignorance.

Risky Shift:
Decisions in Groups are made riskier since people could blame others in the group for the bad outcome

Obey Orders:
to was hands in innocence because the boss, Officier or father ordered to kill a kid is also a bad thing

Inventor: Satan / Capitalism / Advertising Industry

details you will find in the book "IBM and the Holocaust" from Edwin Black...
...i have just one addon. Mental Institutions are not that bad than Auschwitz, but you don't want to be there, also as a christian you don't want to and especially not if you are some sort of a similar archetype like Hans or Sophie Scholl. They cut of your head virtually: they give that much intelligence reducing anti-psychotics that you become as stupid as a swiss toast bread sandwich.
Further in Kanton Aargau they have the Software "ORBIS" from ORBIS AG, if your don't get your injection with the intelligence reducing antipsychotics then this software automatically the police that will hunt you, somehow the same concept as described in the book.

War is the Enemy

Inventor: Joseph Weizenbaum

Joseph Weizenbaum, inventor of ELIZA, Developer of First US Air Deffence System, Humanist, ... found one of the best language hacks i ever heard: "Krieg ist der Feind" (german: War is the Enemy). I extended it so that younger people also understand what i think he meant. "Not USA is the enemy, not russia is the enemy, not ost timor is the enemy, the act fighting against each other is the enemy" there are good and bad people in all coutries, religions, skin colors, companies...

i bought "Rebel at Work" and "Krieg ist der Feind" from Joseph Weizenbaum and i'm satisfied with this two products.

Virtual Hacking

Inventor: ???

Stupid people seem to aggregate or to attack in groups. see dt6 card!
If people attack in are groups it would be likely that there are some that are able to eg. write c/c++ code (real hacking) and many are not.

Inclusion principle would mean that you sould also include those people that can not write code. And unfortunately they did. They wrote some software that seems to be primarily to annoy the real hackers. As soon they have a communication channel to the target (this tends to be me) they mansplain things like: "we now hacked your computer because we can remotely switch it on, hahaha" like today. The funny thing was, that i unplugged the power cable of my desktop, so this was a lie for weaken me before the real hackers attack, i'm not sure what this tells us about the aggregated blackhat team that attacks me...
